About This Week's Reading:

As we grow in our knowledge of God's will, we come to understand that His will is that all may come to know Him and to know His redemptive, transforming love through the lives of His followers, living in the power of His enabling Spirit. The Gathering goes on hiatus

Our Sunday evening service of coffee, conversation, teaching and worship will stop for the summer but will be back on September 12, 2010. If you're looking for something different, why not try Que and Pew on Wednesday evenings (see notice above)?

Lemonade on the Lawn

Now that summer is here, we are enjoying our post-service fellowship outside. We are still looking for volunteer hosts for this summer tradition. We provide the lemonade—all you have to do is make it up and serve it. Some minor cleanup is also required. There is a sign up sheet on the volunteer board in the Narthex.

"No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for anyone else."

Ted Williams goes to Iqualuit

He is living at the Anglican Rectory in Iqualuit where he is doing volunteer work with the Anglican Cathedral as well as having other Northern Adventures. The Oldest Organ in Toronto

There will be a tour of the barrel organ in the back of the church today at 4 p.m. as part of the Organ-Music & Historical Festival 2010. The organ was purchased in 1847 and was the only accompaniment for congregational singing until 1864. It is the oldest organ in Toronto. Entrance by Donation.
